RESOURCE PACK #3 LEADERSHIP

INTRODUCTION

THE COMMUNITY HOSPITALS ASSOCIATION (CHA) HAS DESIGNED A SUITE OF RESOURCE PACKS AS A WAY OF SHARING SOME OF THE LEARNING IN AN ACCESSIBLE WAY. THIS RESOURCE PACK FOCUSES ON THE TOPIC OF LEADERSHIP.

We have set out the examples and identified positive impact changes specific to community hospitals. Each Resource Pack also provides links to national resources concerned with leadership. To create these Resource Packs, the CHA has assembled information from a number of sources from members and our special interest group. Also in 2021/22 the CHA carried out a study on the role of community hospitals during COVID-19, asking staff to describe quality improvements and initiatives that made a positive impact. We interviewed 85 staff and managers working in community hospitals from 20 provider organisations so this has generated reports and resources as well as 31 case studies which have now been shared widely. Staff used these terms during the interviews including “camaraderie,” “resilience,” “all in it together,” and “the team is like a family.” Staff were open and honest about the difficulties and challenges during the pandemic, as well as sharing the improvements that were made for the benefit of patients and staff.

The topics in this Resource Pack include leading change, leadership at all levels of organisations and leadership in clinical practice. Leadership was often woven through areas such as wellbeing and management and we have shared examples of this as well.

The topics in the Resource Packs are being discussed and developed in the Q CHA Community Hospitals: sharing good practice Special Interest Group. Staff are sharing their case studies and experiences. We are sharing the outcomes of our online discussions groups widely to encourage learning across the community hospitals network. The outcome of discussions from the emerging communities of practice will continue to influence and inform the Resource Packs. This Resource Pack reflects initiatives and schemes concerned with leadership and will develop as the learning continues to be shared.

COMMUNITY HOSPITAL RESOURCES: LEADERSHIP

Leadership was expressed by staff as a critical factor in being able to provide an appropriate service in the circumstances of the pandemic. Staff spoke of bold and compassionate leadership. Managers spoke of the challenge of having a central and national focus at the start of the pandemic, to the detriment of the local services.

This was adjusted as the pandemic progressed, and leaders and managers sought ways to support front line staff. The staff spoke of being person-centred and how this was emphasised during the pandemic when the staff were the main and often the only contact for patients in the hospital. Staff provided care and support for patients who were isolating and unable to see their loved ones, and the ways in which staff went out of their way to reassure and care for patients was inspiring and heart-warming.

CASE STUDY EXAMPLES BELOW ARE GROUPED UNDER THREE THEMES:

- 1 Leading Change
- 2 Leadership at every level
- 3 Leadership in Clinical Practice

1 LEADING CHANGE

Enhanced Care: A New Model

CORNWALL PARTNERSHIP NHS FOUNDATION TRUST

Change was a constant during the pandemic.

Staff in Cornwall spoke of their experience of changing the focus of their ward to deliver an Enhanced Care Model at Launceston Community Hospital. This involved sourcing a different workforce, training staff, developing different relationships with Mental Health colleagues and managing a different group of patients.

Leadership from the Matron and Ward Manager was evident in the stories they shared with us. They put in place support on an individual and team basis and ensured good practice and care were acknowledged and highlighted. The Matron did an Excellence Report (on the Datix system) for Launceston to celebrate their success which meant they got a certificate to say well done.

Relocating Non-Surgical Cancer Services

TORBAY AND SOUTH DEVON NHS FOUNDATION TRUST

Staff in Torbay and North Devon told us about their experience of Relocating Non-Surgical Cancer Services. They shared how important “senior clinical, nursing and operational support” was in creating a “super green” site at Newton Abbot Community Hospital.

This work involved collaborative working across the acute site and the Community Hospital, developing new protocols, staff learning and produced positive outcomes for patients and valuable learning for the wider organisation.

System impact of organisational innovation

BIRMINGHAM COMMUNITY HEALTHCARE
NHS FOUNDATION TRUST

In Birmingham, the Community Hospitals responded as part of whole organisational change to support the wider system. Some of the initiatives put in place related to changing the focus of care from a rehabilitation to a sub-acute model, enhanced clinical skills around Nasogastric feeding and care of tracheostomies, introducing family liaison, end of life care involvement from therapists, introducing an Early Intervention Service and Attend Anywhere and enhancing support to Care Homes. Huddles were introduced within the Community Hospitals to support communication and increase opportunities to share operational issues and problem solve together.

A focus was maintained on staff wellbeing. Whole teams were redeployed, including the Research Team in the early part of the pandemic but they identified the benefits of participating in research projects, much of which took part on Community Hospital sites. This also raised the profile on research in out of hospital care.

The leadership approach to organisational change resulted in better outcomes for some patient groups, innovation, new service models, enhanced relationships, improved equity of access and recognition for the role of Community Hospitals.

A Leadership Journey to support a 7 Day Service

OXFORD HEALTH NHS FOUNDATION TRUST

Community Hospitals in Oxfordshire told us about a new way of working was developed across the community hospitals, with a strengthening of leadership at every level. This has enabled a 7-day service to be offered, and the community hospitals contribution to the service within the whole system to be enhanced, recognised and valued by partners.

The Matrons for the community hospitals in Oxfordshire Health NHS Foundation Trust came up with a proposal for a new way of working in the second wave of the pandemic. They developed a system whereby one Matron had an operational responsibility for all community hospitals for a 7-day period.

The Operational Matron became the single point of access for partner organisations such as the Acute Trusts and Social Care with the inpatient services. The other 3 Matrons had clinical responsibility across the rest of the community hospitals. This arrangement was on rotation, so each Matron had regular experience of operational and clinical responsibility for all community hospitals in the community directorate.

This new arrangement provided leadership and support for staff in community hospitals and 7 days a week.

QUOTE FROM CASE STUDY

I think, from a bird's eye view, the most significant change to the NHS in general is that although we think it is a big organisation and slow to change, during Covid we saw things change on a pinhead. So, we have learned that it is possible to create change and agility if we really need to. The key is we can do this

Managers as buddies

OXFORD HEALTH NHS FOUNDATION TRUST

In Oxfordshire staff described how senior leaders buddied up with each Community Hospital meaning they had direct access to someone for escalation conversations and provide enhanced staff support. This resulted in re-energised leaders and leadership that was truly connected with the reality on the wards.

Creating a Communication Open Door

NORTHERN HEALTH AND SOCIAL CARE TRUST

The Team at Robinson Memorial Hospital shared their experiences with a focus on Communication. The leadership of the team by the GP and Ward Manager ensured they worked to communicate differently with patients and families. Their experiences of managing restricted visiting and communication at end of life have left a lasting impression and generated learning which will continue to improve practice.

Managing relationships with colleagues from other teams, supporting team members to develop new technological skills and managing a red COVID-19 ward were not always straightforward but as a well led team they achieved good outcomes for patients and families.

The leadership of the team was vital in supporting them to remain united and continue to focus on patient centred care.
